Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 26 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Dry for a time tonight, but rain returns Monday morning.

This Evening and Tonight:
Isolated showers at first will soon ease, leaving a largely dry evening with a few clear spells at first. However cloud will gather after after midnight, with outbreaks of rain arriving across Cornwall, Devon and west Somerset by morning. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Monday:
A spell of wet and windy weather Monday morning as rain sweeps eastwards. Brighter spells following later, but also heavy showers which could locally give some longer spells of rain. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Changeable conditions prevail throughout the next few days, with spells of rain interspersed some drier, brighter interludes. Strong winds on Wednesday and Thursday and becoming increasingly mild.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.